A Guide to Rural Fiber Arts Destinations

¡BIENVENIDOS!

THE NEW MEXICO FIBER ARTS TRAILS are a collaboration between New Mexico Arts and a grassroots network of fiber artists to cultivate awareness of our rich and unique fiber arts heritage and innovations, as well as opportunities for artists to prosper in their home communities. The trails evolved from New Mexico Arts' leadership in nurturing arts entrepreneurship to foster sustainability in our rural communities.

Why fiber arts? Universal, they also are local, democratic, and accessible. They encompass age-old traditions and cutting edge advances. Why trails? Creativity flourishes on the back roads, for both artists and travelers. The trails celebrate New Mexico's diverse communities, lifestyles, and landscapes, all of which inspire, nurture, and supply fiber-related activities.

Trails sites have participated in an application process and are ready for company, in three regions: North Central, Northwest, and South. The work of more than 200 New Mexico fiber artists awaits you at 71 destinations. So pack a good map of New Mexico and hit the trails!

WANT TO LEARN MORE?

The free detailed guide to the New Mexico Fiber Arts Trails is packed with information on fiber arts in rural New Mexico. Visit www.nmfiberarts.org or www.nmarts.org to download the PDF. You may also call 505-827-6490, or instate 1-800-879-4278, to request a copy by mail.

ENJOY THE WIDE OPEN SPACES

The trails meander through diverse rural ecosystems, but our dry climate and high elevation are constants. Be sure to bring plenty of water, sunglasses, sunscreen, and layers of clothing. Fill your gas tank before heading out, and remember that some areas do not have cell phone reception. Sites indicated by 📞 are on dirt or gravel roads where access may be challenging. Call sites for updates on road conditions.

TRAILS HOURS

Site hours of operation vary and may change depending on the season or weather. It never hurts to call ahead to confirm hours with hosts.

CHECK THE FIBER NETWORK

For trails updates in north central or northwestern New Mexico, contact the Española Valley Fiber Arts Center at 505-747-3577 (site #1), or in the south, The Common Thread in Silver City at 505-538-5733 (site #59). New Mexico is slated to add new area codes; keep this in mind as you dial.

HONOR YOUR FURRY HOSTS

If you are traveling with pets, please do not bring them to sites out of consideration for the animals who live – and work – along the trails.

VISITORS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

Wheelchair accessible sites are indicated by ♿. Sites with wheelchair accessible restrooms are designated by ♿. Call ahead if special assistance is needed.

TRAILS FOR ALL TO ENJOY

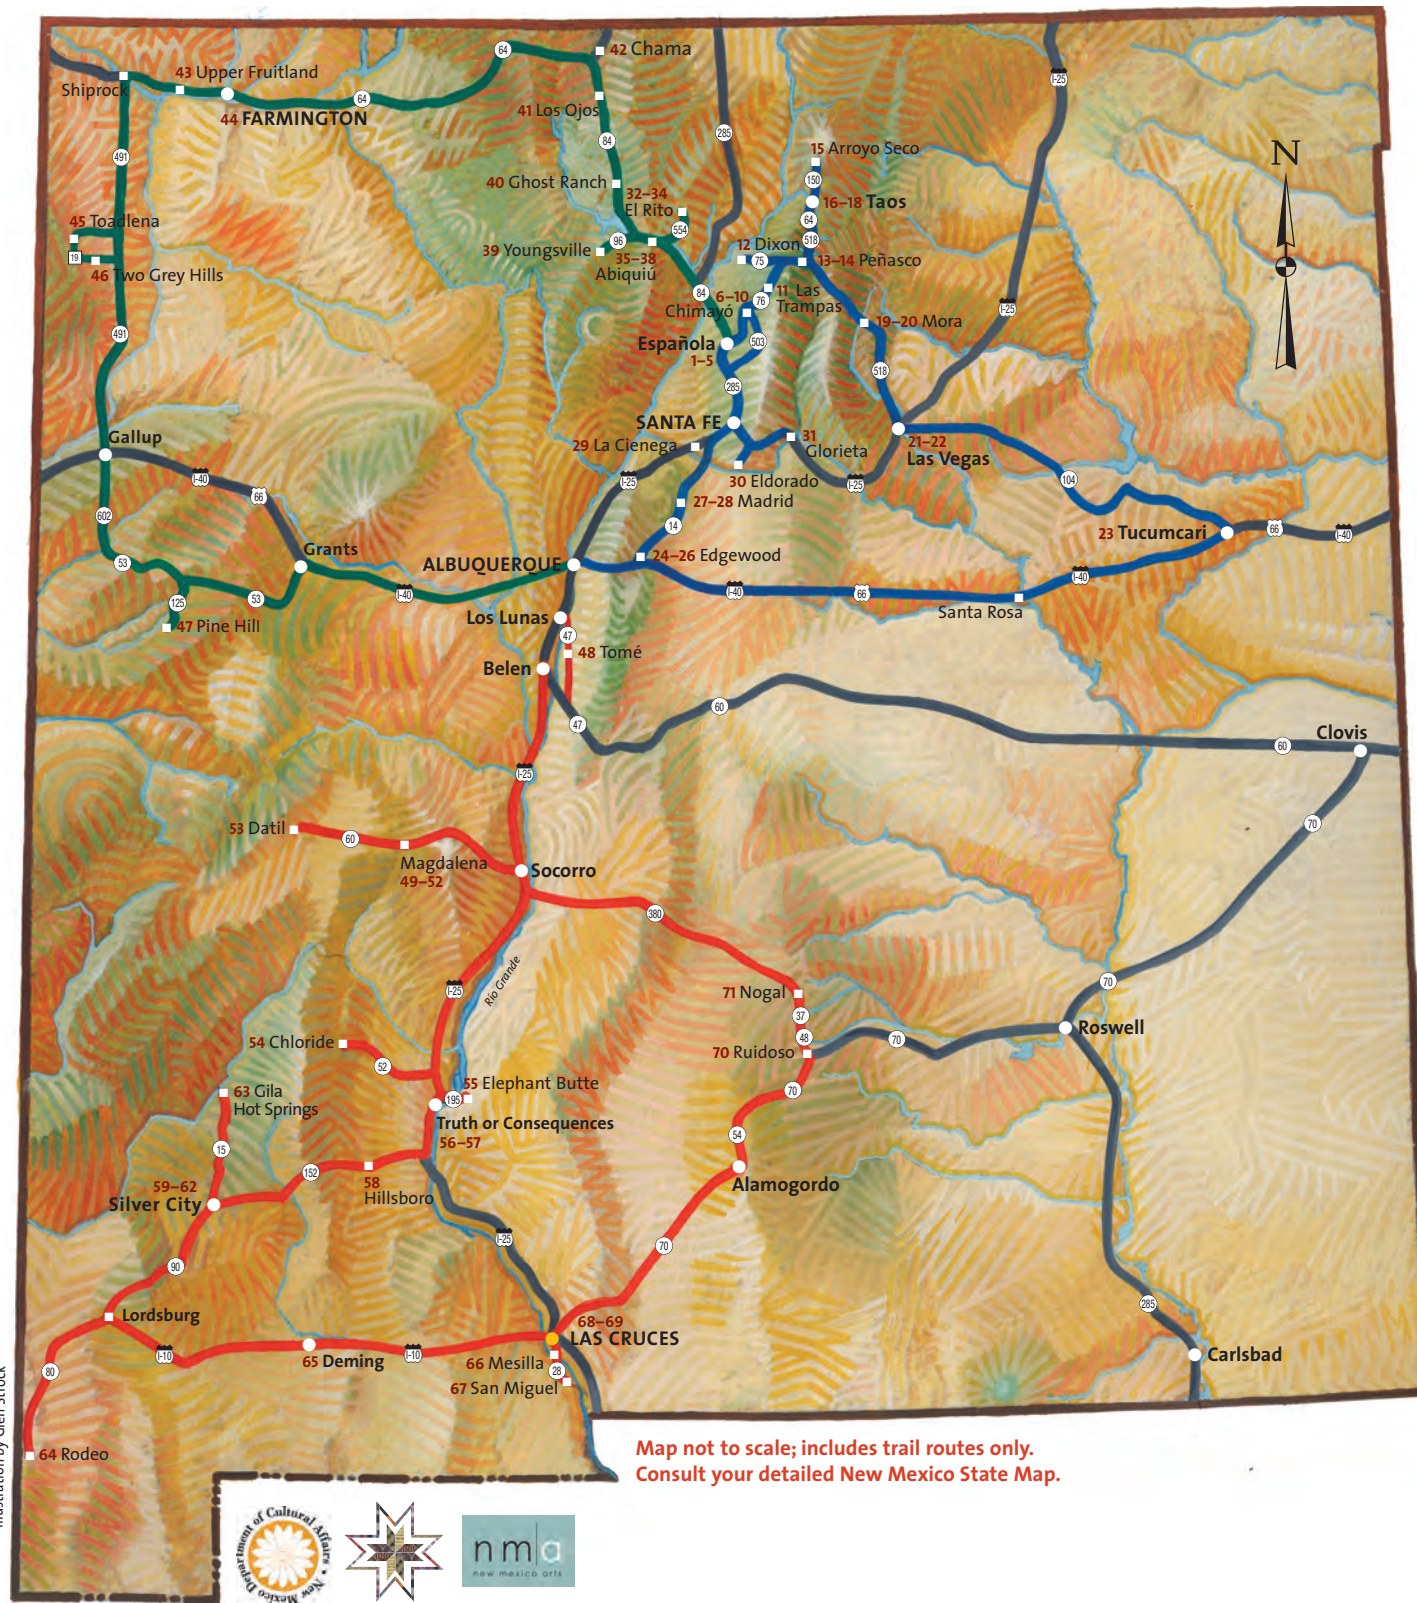

Sites carrying fiber arts supplies 🚗 and those offering classes or workshops 📞 are ideal for indulging your fiber arts passions. Remember to pack your checkbook for sites that are not set up for credit cards.
